

Hello Automation,

Welcome! You've taken the first step towards holding ACME, Inc. ("ACME") accountable for violating your privacy rights. Next, sign the agreement below so our lawyers can get to work on your claim. If you don't sign, we can't begin working on your claim. This agreement is between you and us as your lawyers. It governs our attorney-client relationship, including:

1. Why sign up? Once you sign up, the lawyers can immediately begin sharing information and negotiating with the company for you. Our lawyers only get a fee if they recover for you.
2. What do I need to do? Review and sign this agreement before we can take any action on your claim. After you sign up, check your email for a link to Lantern, our client portal. Should any of your information change, you can keep us updated through Lantern.
3. What can the lawyers do for you? We'll be your lawyers for your claims that ACME violated your privacy rights by collecting your biometric information in violation of Illinois' Biometric Information Privacy Act ("BIPA"). We are not your lawyer for any other type of claim against ACME or any other company.
By signing, you agree we can act on your claim without your express consent, like negotiating with the company, preparing and filing documents, or requesting information that we need to move your claim forward. If you have questions, you can always check Lantern, email us at ACMEPrivacyClaim@Labaton.com, or call at (866) 389-6343.
4. How long will it take to resolve my case? While there is no set amount of time, similar cases have taken up to a year to resolve. Some have taken longer. Don't worry, we will send you updates along the way.
5. What happens if there's a settlement? Often, companies want to resolve your claims through a settlement. We'll contact you if there's a settlement and let you know if we think you should accept. It is up to you whether you accept. If you have any questions about the settlement, email or call us.
6. How our fees work. We only get a fee if your claim is settled or results in an award for you. If that happens, we'll first deduct our fee. Our fee is 40%, unless your state sets the fee at a lower percentage. Then we deduct expenses. We don't keep those—they are paid to vendors, arbitrators, experts, or others who assist in the claim process. The rest is yours. You'll never owe us anything out-of-pocket.
We're not paid unless we're successful, so it's in our interest to work as hard as we can for you.
7. When our relationship ends. Mostly, we're your lawyers until your claim is settled or resolved. However, there are a few ways our relationship can end early. First, you can always withdraw by emailing us at ACMEPrivacyClaim@Labaton.com. Second, we can withdraw in some circumstances, like if you violate this agreement, don't cooperate, or don't follow our advice. We may also withdraw if we learn you don't have a claim, bringing your claim would be extremely difficult or expensive, or we'd need to violate our ethical responsibilities by continuing to represent you. We'll notify you before we withdraw from your claim.

We hope you'll sign up with us. We'll work hard to get the best result for you. If you have any questions about this agreement, we're available at (866) 389-6343 and ACMEPrivacyClaim@Labaton.com.

Sincerely,

LABATON KELLER SUCHAROW LLP

ACME, INC., PRIVACY CLAIMS ATTORNEY-CLIENT RETAINER AGREEMENT

This Attorney-Client Agreement ("Agreement") is between Automation User ("you") and Labaton Keller Sucharow LLP ("Labaton", "we", or "us"). If you have any questions about this agreement, please contact us at ACMEPrivacyClaim@Labaton.com.

1. Scope of Representation.

We will serve as your attorneys in connection with potential claims you may have against ACME, ACME, Inc., ACME Global, Inc., and ACME Group Holdings, Inc. (hereinafter referred to as "ACME"). We will represent you to the best of our ability and according to our ethical duties as lawyers. PLEASE READ THIS AGREEMENT AND THE ATTACHMENTS CAREFULLY. IN ORDER FOR US TO PROCEED ON YOUR BEHALF, YOU MUST SIGN THIS AGREEMENT ON THE LAST PAGE. BY SIGNING AND CLICKING "FINISH," YOU WILL MAKE THIS AGREEMENT BINDING UPON BOTH YOU AND US.

Upon your signing this Agreement, we agree to represent you in privacy-related claims against ACME or related people or companies like subsidiaries, affiliates, directors, officers, or shareholders (the "company") relating to the ACME website and mobile app. We will only investigate your claims as a result of ACME's collection of your biometric identifiers and biometric information in violation of Illinois' Biometric Information Privacy Act ("BIPA"). You also authorize us to represent you in related claims against the company, that we may discover and determine are ones that are feasible for us to pursue on your behalf. We do not represent you in any other matters unless we sign a separate agreement governing those matters.

By signing this Agreement, you authorize us to file a claim on your behalf and in your name in an individual arbitration, if we think that it is in your best interest to do so. We may also do other things we believe are in your best interest, including preparing and signing legal documents, negotiating a settlement, or obtaining documents from the company or third parties to evaluate and prosecute your claim. You also agree that we can file a motion or other documents, including a complaint, on your behalf in court if the need arises. By signing at the end of this Agreement you also approve the annexed Attorney Document Authorization. If we determine that you do not have a valid claim, we will so advise you and this Agreement shall terminate.

The outcome of disputed legal matters is always uncertain. You understand that we cannot guarantee that this claim will be successful or that you will recover any money or obtain any other form of relief.

If the arbitrator does not rule in your favor, we will consider pursuing an appeal of the decision if allowed to do so. However, we may determine at our sole discretion not to pursue such an appeal. If that happens, we will notify you so that you may protect any appeal rights you might have.

2. Attorneys' Fees, Expenses & How We Disburse Funds.

You won't owe us any fees unless we successfully collect a financial recovery for you by payment of an award or settlement of your claim. You will never owe us any sums out of pocket for fees or expenses.

Under no circumstances will we collect an unreasonably large fee.

We are a contingency fee law firm, which means that our fees are a percentage of the settlement, award, or recovery. In the event your claim settles or results in a recovery or award, our fee will be 40% of the gross sum recovered. However, if the law in your state limits the contingent fees we are entitled to receive to a percentage less than 40%, we will limit our fee to the maximum amount allowed. If you have any questions about the fee amounts that apply to your state, you may contact us at ACMEPrivacyClaim@Labaton.com. You acknowledge that this fee is the result of an arms-length transaction between you and us.

After our fees are deducted, we deduct expenses from your gross recovery. Expenses can include expenses specific to your individual arbitration or expenses that we advance on behalf of all of our clients with similar cases for the benefit of the whole group of clients. These expenses may include our usual and customary fees for copying, messenger services and similar items, as well as travel expenses. Expenses that we pay to vendors, arbitrators, experts, or others who assist in the arbitration claim process are not kept by us and are billed at cost. We also charge a small fee of up to $8 per client, per case, for software development, maintenance, and upkeep of the arbitration platform both for charges by outside vendors and in-house support staff expenses that reasonably reflect the actual costs to maintain the platform for your use and benefit. Once there is a recovery, settlement, or judgment in your favor, we will inform you in writing of the amount of expenses to be deducted from your award and the nature of the expense.

If there is recovery or settlement in this case, you grant us the right to receive any monies resulting therefrom, deduct fees and expenses, and send you the remainder. We will do so as soon as practicable. If we cannot locate you or an authorized representative within 90 days after attempting to distribute your funds, we may either hold such funds in escrow or deposit them with the court. In the event you do not elect how to receive your settlement award, you agree that we may disburse your funds as an electronic/debit/credit card to the email address we have on file. You understand that we may have a lien upon any amount recovered for you.

There may be laws that apply to your claim or provisions of your agreement with the company that allow a court or arbitrator to order the company to pay your attorneys' fees, costs, or expenses (collectively "statutory fees") if your claim is successful. If these laws or contract provisions apply, you agree that we can seek to collect the statutory fees from the company. We will only seek to collect statutory fees from the company if your claim is successful, and never from you. If we are successful, all statutory fees received from the company, will be applied to reduce the fee we are entitled to under this Agreement. If we receive a lump sum amount from the company, we will equitably apportion it amongst all clients we represent. Even though you will pay nothing to us unless you recover, some state laws require that we disclose to you our regular hourly rates. The hourly rates for the attorneys and other billing professional staff who may work on your case range from $365 for junior paralegal staff to $1,350 for senior partners, but you are not responsible to pay us according to these hourly rates. If we seek our attorneys' fees directly from the company, we will seek them using these hourly rates. You are not billed on an hourly basis, you do not owe us any attorneys' fees unless we succeed on your claim, and your fees will never exceed 40% of your settlement or award. We reserve the right to update these rates with 60 days' written notice which will be sent through Labaton's secure client portal. You acknowledge that we may associate with other counsel in connection with your claim.

You acknowledge that we may associate with other counsel in connection with your claim.

3. Settlement Offers.

You have the right to accept or reject any settlement offer the company makes to you. We will never settle your claim without your express consent.

You give us exclusive authorization to negotiate settlements with the company, including as part of a group settlement with other similar claims, and to make decisions about litigation or settlement tactics on your behalf. You give us the right to reject any settlement offer that is not equal to your actual loss, or the maximum allowable damages, whichever is greater, unless we believe that we have achieved the likely best settlement possible under the circumstances. You agree that any settlement we obtain on your behalf shall include a mutual release of claims against the company and its attorneys, agents, and other related parties relating to the claims described in paragraph 1, as well as claims by the company against you or your attorneys, agents, and other related parties relating to the claims described in paragraph 1. If we bring you a settlement offer from the company or about your claim, the final decision on whether to accept the offer is yours. However, we may advise you that we feel the settlement is fair and reasonable, and if you disagree with our advice and continuing to represent you creates an unreasonable financial burden on us, we may withdraw as counsel after giving you reasonable notice or ask the arbitral panel for permission to withdraw as your attorneys consistent with the applicable ethics rules.

You can substitute another law firm for us as your attorneys at any time; however, if you don't do so for good cause and you later obtain a settlement, recovery, or judgment, you agree that we are entitled to an amount up to and including the full fee contemplated by this Agreement for legal services rendered. Alternatively, if you substitute another law firm for us for good cause, or if we withdraw as counsel and you later obtain a settlement, recovery, or judgment, you agree to pay us reasonable fees and expenses for legal services rendered.

4. Multiple Clients; Apportionment of Recovery; & Conflicts of Interest.

You acknowledge that you are not the only client we are representing with respect to this claim and that conflicts of interest could arise between you and our other clients.

You are one of multiple plaintiffs or claimants being represented by us with respect to this case. We may reach a single aggregate settlement of multiple claims involving the same or similar factual patterns if we believe it to be fair and adequate for the group as a whole. In the event that you do not withdraw from the settlement, you authorize us to apportion the common expenses and recovery between all of our clients in such manner as we determine to be fair and equitable.

You acknowledge that representation of multiple clients may give rise to potential conflicts of interest. If we believe that such a conflict exists, we shall discuss the matter with you. If it is necessary for us to withdraw, then you might have to obtain new, separate counsel, which may incur additional expense and delay as the new attorneys become familiar with the matter. If we withdraw from representing you, you agree to waive any objection to our continuing to represent other clients in this matter.

5. When We May Withdraw as Your Attorneys.

We may withdraw from our representation of you in some specific circumstances:

- (i) You fail to comply with any portion of this Agreement;
- (ii) You fail to cooperate with us in the prosecution of your claim, such as failing to respond to our requests for information or provide us with materially incorrect information regarding your claim;
- (iii) You don't follow our advice, tactics, or strategy;
- (iv) It is not economically viable for you or us to continue to prosecute your claim;
- (v) After we review your records or other information, we believe that proving or prosecuting your claim will be extremely difficult or expensive;
- (vi) We determine that further prosecution of the case would be unethical or result in a conflict of interest; or
- (vii) The company enters bankruptcy or liquidation, or we determine that any judgment or recovery would be uncollectable.
- (viii) You have released this claim and there is no reasonable basis to challenge the release as invalid or ineffective;
- (ix) You have violated your confidentiality obligations with respect to prior matters in which we have obtained a settlement or recovery for you;

We will provide you reasonable notice prior to withdrawing from the representation. Subject to the requirements of any applicable law or ethics code, such withdrawal will be effective by sending you an electronic notification to your last known email address.

6. Your Duties as Client; Electronic Communications.

You have certain responsibilities as a client, including the responsibility to keep us updated as to your contact information, to promptly respond to our communications, and provide information and documents we need for your claim electronically or through our secure client portal, Lantern.

You agree to notify us of any change in address, telephone, or other contact information by sending an email to ACMEPrivacyClaim@Labaton.com within two weeks of a change.

You agree to cooperate in the prosecution of your claim.

You agree to respond promptly to our requests for information or documents necessary to move your claim forward.

By signing this Agreement, you acknowledge that the best way to facilitate communications between the attorneys and yourself is electronically. You agree that most of our communications will be conducted either by email or through a private, secure client portal to which you have access solely in connection with and for the purpose of our representation of you. You agree to be subject to the terms of the End User License Agreement (set forth below) for the use of our website and client portal. You acknowledge that the client portal is proprietary to us and that we may terminate your access at any time.

You agree that we may place autodialed or pre-recorded calls or text messages to the telephone numbers you provide for the purposes of receiving case-related information. You understand that you can revoke consent by dialing (866) 389-6343 or by any other reasonable notice, and that you do not have to consent to these calls or text messages to receive services.

If your claim results in a settlement or resolution, you agree that any sums due to you under the terms of this Agreement may be held in a client trust account or interest on lawyers' trust account that is located in the state of New York until they are disbursed to you under the terms of any settlement or resolution.

7. Statute of Limitations Waiver.

Your claims must be brought within a limited time period called the Statute of Limitations. If the claims are brought after that time, your legal rights can be lost or barred forever. Because we need time to investigate your claims, it's important to promptly complete this Agreement and provide any follow-up information requested by us. If you do not, your claim may be time-barred. Even if you complete this Agreement, you agree that we do not have to take any action on your claim if the Statute of Limitations period expires within 90 days of the date this signed Agreement is received.

8. Third-Parties Bound.

This Agreement binds your heirs, executors, administrators, successors and assignees. In the event of your death, it will bind any duly appointed representative of your heirs or estate to the extent allowed by applicable law. In particular, any such representative will be bound by the provisions of this Agreement relating to the recovery of attorneys' fees and costs and other expenses from any settlement entered into by you prior to your death.

9. Dispute Resolution; Confidentiality.

New York Fee Dispute Resolution Program

If you and the attorneys have a dispute about our legal fees, you may have the right to seek its resolution in accordance with the New York Fee Dispute Resolution Program, Part 137 of the Rules of the Chief Administrator of the State of New York. These rules are available here: <http://ww2.nycourts.gov/rules/chiefadmin/137.shtml>. Upon your request we will provide you with the necessary information regarding that program. You have the absolute right to have any fee dispute governed by the Fee Dispute Resolution Program. This applies only to disputes regarding our legal fees as provided for by Part 137.

Other Disputes

If you and the attorneys have any other dispute about this contract or our services, or if you determine not to utilize the Fee Dispute Resolution described above, we will first try to settle it through direct discussions.

You agree to give us (30) days' notice of any dispute by sending a letter or email to ACMEPrivacyClaim@Labaton.com. If you and the attorneys cannot resolve the dispute through direct discussions, both parties agree to first try to settle the dispute by mediation administered by the American Arbitration Association under its Consumer Mediation Procedures. If the parties cannot resolve the dispute then, any disagreements will be settled by arbitration administered by the American Arbitration Association in accordance with its Consumer Arbitration Rules and judgment on the award rendered by the arbitrator(s) may be entered in any court having jurisdiction thereof. The arbitration shall be governed by the laws of the State of New York. Unless both parties agree otherwise, the arbitration will be based on the submission of documents or, if the arbitrator so directs, by remote or other electronic communication, and there shall be no in-person or oral hearing. An arbitration resolves a dispute before one or more arbitrators and not a jury of one's peers. Unlike a court proceeding, an arbitration proceeding is conducted in private and the outcome will remain confidential. The arbitrators will have no authority to award punitive or other damages not measured by the prevailing party's actual damages, except as may be required by statute. The standard provisions of the Consumer Rules shall apply. A judicial forum generally does not permit reasonable attorney fees to be imposed against a non-prevailing client in a nonfrivolous action, and arbitrators will only have the authority to allocate attorneys' fees if a particular law permits them to do so. Arbitrators will have the authority to allocate the costs of the arbitration process among the parties. By agreeing to mediation and arbitration, you and we waive the right to seek remedies in court, including the right to jury trial, the possible waiver of broad discovery, and the loss of the right to appeal. The benefits of mediation and arbitration are that they are less costly for you and us, and they take less time than actions take in court. If you require additional information about the differences between a matter resolved through arbitration rather than through a judicial proceeding, you may contact us at ACMEPrivacyClaim@Labaton.com. You also have the right to seek independent counsel to advise you before agreeing to this retainer agreement.

Confidentiality.

You agree not to oppose any reasonable protective or sealing order we may seek in any arbitration or court proceeding in order to preserve the confidentiality of the proceeding including, but not limited to, our client information, litigation strategies or work product, or confidential procedures and practices.

10. No Other Lawyers.

You represent to us that you have not signed an agreement with any other lawyers to pursue claims against the company. If you do not remember signing such an agreement, but you did, by signing this Agreement you terminate that prior agreement and permit us to contact and communicate with the other law firm about all issues related to your claims against the company.

11. Headings.

The headings in this Agreement are for reference purposes only and do not have any effect on the meaning or interpretation of this Agreement.

12. Severability; Freely Entered Into; Entire Agreement; Controlling Law.

You agree that if any provision or part of this Agreement is found to be invalid or unenforceable, only that particular provision or part, and not the entire Agreement, will be inoperative; and the invalidity of a particular provision in a particular jurisdiction shall not invalidate such provision in any other jurisdiction.

You confirm that you have entered into this Agreement, including the dispute resolution provision, freely and willingly and have had the opportunity to consult with attorneys of your choice, other advisors, family, or friends about doing so.

This Agreement, along with the accompanying End User License Agreement and Attorney Document Authorization, set forth our full understanding. Neither you nor we have made any other promise or commitment.

This Agreement shall be governed and controlled by the laws of the State of New York, except its choice of laws provisions, and the New York Rules of Professional Conduct.
